Caring for Your Dental Conditions

Morland House Surgery, March 2015

- As a practice we would like our patients to receive the best possible care.
- GPs have no training or qualifications in dentistry and we are therefore unable to diagnose, treat or prescribe medications for dental problems.
- If you are unwell and are unsure if it is due to a dental or medical problem, we are happy to see you. However, if it is found that you are suffering from a dental problem, we will not be able to offer treatment or medication and will ask that you see a dentist to have it safely and appropriately addressed.
- If you do not have a registered NHS dentist or are unable to get a timely appointment, you should phone 111. They will, where appropriate, help arrange an emergency appointment with a local dentist in your area. This is also true for care outside of normal working hours.
